Getting to Know You

Jordan Taylor, a 26-year-old standout from Apopka, Fla., joined Corvette Racing in 2012 as the third driver in the team's long-distance events. He resumed that role in 2017 in the No. 63 Corvette C7.R with Antonio Garcia and Jan Magnussen; the trio placed third in GTE Pro. Taylor won Le Mans in 2015 with Oliver Gavin and Tommy Milner in the sister No. 64 Corvette. The son of championship-winning driver Wayne Taylor, this second-generation racer literally grew up at race tracks. In addition to endurance duty for Corvette Racing, Taylor won his second Prototype Driver Championship in 2017 with five victories including Daytona and Sebring in the Cadillac DPi Prototype.
